

Individual Progress Report:

Week 1

To be honest, I did not work towards my passion project at all in the first week. All my attention was to find about the need of knowing any 1 language completely and atleast start with 1 new language as I was lacking in Python/PHP/Java.

Week 2

Previous Week's goal- Nothing

Present Week goal- To get some innovative idea for Passion project. To learn more of python.

#1. I thought of some innovative idea for my passion project which made me feel very relax.

#2. I continued working with python and didn't quit it in midway like before.

#3. I looked at other languages as well like HTML, CSS for my projects.

Accomplishments- Thinking of some innovative ideas, continued learning of language, revising HTML, CSS.

Next week goal- Finalise on the project for my passion project, technologies and timeline I would set for my passion project.

Week 3

Previous Week's goal- To think of innovative project.

Present Week goal- Freeze upon the projects and the technologies.

#1. Had a great discussion with sir and got to know about what are the possible fields to exploit.

#2. Thought of some 15-20 ideas for my passion project.

#3. Had to look out for best combination for the languages to use for the projects.

#4. Learnt to think in innovative manner.

#5. Learnt about what are the trending languages used for developing softwares.

#6. Wrote the proposal. Penned down all the thoughts and tried to be as innovative as possible.

#7. Learnt to estimate the timeline to deliver a software after a hefty discussion with my friends.

#8. Python :P

Accomplishments- Started thinking in an innovative manner and could estimate about the technology I would use for my software and timeline I would set for my passion project.

Next week goal- Start implementation.
